Tata Institute of Social Sciences: An Introduction

The Tata Institute of Social Sciences (TISS) was established in 1936, as the Sir Dorabji Tata Graduate School of Social Work, a post-graduate school of social work of national stature to meet the emerging need for trained human service professionals. It has earned recognition as an institution of repute from different Ministries of the Government of India (GoI); State Governments; international agencies, such as the United Nations; and the non-government sector, both national and international. A high degree of freedom and autonomy shape the positive work ethos and creativity in the Institute facilitating strong linkages between education, research, field action and dissemination. In recognition of its social contribution and academic excellence, it was awarded a 5-Star rating by NAAC in 2002. The process of re-accreditation has been initiated, which will be completed by February 2008.

Additionally, it offers 5 Diploma programmes and 3 Certificate programmes in various fields of study. It also has a lively Study in India programme, which provides opportunities for international students to study and experience Indian social realities through a blend of theory and field experiences.

1.3 RESEARCH

Over the last 5 years, the TISS has been engaged in over 400 research projects funded in-house and/or in collaboration with various governmental, non-governmental and international agencies. In 2006–2007 alone, the TISS undertook 90 research and documentation projects, in areas such as health, education, rural development, employability, labour issues, human rights, sustainable development, social development, urban and rural poverty, disaster response and recovery, etc.

1.4 EXTENSION AND FIELD ACTION

As a part of its extension activities, the TISS has been undertaking innovative field action projects (FAPs) since the 1930s. These FAPs focus on the empowerment of marginalised groups, testing new approaches and strategies in response to changing social realities, facilitating development of field-based knowledge and practice–theory continuum, among others. They have always played an integral role in the curriculum of social work education. Many important institutional innovations – such as Child Guidance Clinics, social workers/counsellors in Hospitals and Family Courts, Special Cells for Violence against Women in Police Stations, Childline – began as FAPs of TISS and were later absorbed into public institutional structures.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT AND LABOUR STUDIES

2.5 M.A. IN GLOBALISATION AND LABOUR

The onslaught of globalisation and liberalisation has been causing major changes in the lives of the people in developing countries in general and the working class in particular. This has happened particularly during a short span of just 2 decades. It is during this period that the world has witnessed an intensification of the globalisation process and liberal policies. Moves to counter these forces are present but at times weak and mostly divided. The ILO has stated specifically that there should be measures that make globalisation more inclusive of the marginalised. There is a need to introduce this debate at a level that is higher than mere rhetoric and sloganeering. It is necessary to equip people engaged in mass-based organisations such as trade unions, cooperatives and other membership-based organisations with adequate knowledge at the theoretical, conceptual and empirical levels so that they can interrogate these processes and take stands that are realistic.

The M.A. in Globalisation and Labour programme attempts to undertake this task. The initial interest in starting such a course came from the ILO. It has founded the Global Labour University (GLU), which collaborates with universities in different countries to run courses at the post-graduate levels for training trade unionists and other activists of membership-based organisations. The GLU has initiated a programme with the University of Kassel and Berlin School of Economics in Germany; the University of Witwatersrand, South Africa; and University of Campinas, Brazil. The TISS is a part of this international collaborative effort. Preference will be given to candidates from trade unions and membership-based organisations.

The pedagogy for this programme is through classroom teaching, tutorials, student seminars, project work, and field visits. The role of visiting faculty, mainly from trade unions and labour research organisations from different countries, will be a vital input. Classroom teaching will comprise 50% of the credit hours. Students will be encouraged to make presentations on the different topics covered, based on field visits and their own experiences.

Classroom teaching of the programme will be completed in the first year, where a total of 12 courses, comprising 44 credits, will be taught. Grading will be based on written examinations, assignments and presentations. In the second year, all students will undergo an internship (of 16 credits) for 6 months with a trade union or a membership-based organisation. They will report back periodically to the faculty. Each student will also have to write a dissertation of 16 credits under the supervision of a faculty member. All students return to the campus in February to complete, submit and defend the dissertation.

2.6 M.A. IN HUMAN RESOURCES MANAGEMENT & LABOUR RELATIONS

The M.A. in Human Resources Management and Labour Relations (formerly known as M.A. in Personnel Management and Industrial Relations) programme is designed to develop students into professionally competent and socially sensitive management graduates, fully equipped to take on the challenges of the corporate world. The programme presents an outstanding prospect to explore the critical areas of contemporary human resources management, in concert with a comprehensive knowledge and understanding of the key functions of management and business.

The broad objectives of this M.A. programme are to sensitise students to the social, political, economic, and ecological environments of society; to enable students to become effective business leaders and decision-makers and contribute to organisational effectiveness; to facilitate the use of systems thinking among the students to evolve possibilities, while addressing various personal and organisational challenges; to develop a global perspective among students to respond to global challenges; and to impart values of intellectual honesty, justice and fairness.

The programme places importance on both theoretical and hands-on learning. While classroom learning through participation in the forms of discussions and case studies, presentations, simulation games, assignments, etc., emphasises conceptual clarity, practical inputs are provided through the rigorous field work system, which complements the classroom inputs by throwing light on the practical dimension of the profession. The insights that emerge out of such an experience make students conceptually strong and successful in the practice of the profession. All these, coupled with the focused attention that students get owing to the small size of the batch, makes personal learning highly effective. Field work is a continuous process, which seeks to facilitate students' exposure to varied industry sectors. Besides, students undertake internships with organisations for a period ranging from 6–8 weeks, which is seen as an opportunity for the student to learn significantly from, and contribute meaningfully to organisations.

In brief, the M.A. in Human Resources Management and Labour Relations (HRM&LR) programme, which benefits from over 4 decades of teaching and research in the same area, is a challenging teaching–learning experience that blends cutting edge theory with innovative practice to develop business leaders for the global industry.

The TISS HRM & LR post-graduates are amongst the most sought after in the global industry today. They occupy positions of leadership across a wide spectrum of industries and sectors including, IT/ITeS, banking and finance, telecom, manufacturing, public sector, pharmaceutical, retail and management consultancy.

2.7 M.A. IN SOCIAL ENTREPRENEURSHIP

The field of Social Entrepreneurship, which has grown very rapidly in recent years, leverages business management and entrepreneurial skills to pursue the multiple bottom-line of the social enterprise by keeping stakeholder value intact rather than only that of shareholder value. The Centre for Social Entrepreneurship with the School of Management and Labour Studies came into existence after careful thought about the emerging needs of wider society to develop change leaders to create enterprises with a social purpose, and thus generate wealth to enhance livelihood and sustainable development. This programme is about promoting inclusive groups.

The two-year, full-time, M.A. in Social Entrepreneurship programme aims at training and developing change leaders for wealth generation with social progress in social sectors/non-profit markets. These qualified professionals are expected to emerge as social entrepreneurs themselves in collaboration with the state, market and civil society institutions. The course curriculum blends cutting-edge theory with innovative field-based learnings to develop appropriate, effective, efficient, economically sustainable and politically viable entrepreneurial activities.

The programme will cover an overview of the business, finance, economics, society, ethics, innovation, entrepreneurship, profit making and non-profit making organisations and their structures, decision-making and management, leadership development, linkages with stakeholders, and development of business plans for the non-profit sectors. A distinctive feature of the course curriculum is its inductive pedagogy blending classroom teaching and experiential learning through block fieldwork, assignments in finding innovative solutions to social problems individually and through group exercises, in-depth examination of the strengths and weaknesses of social entrepreneurial activities across the world, and interacting with successful social entrepreneurs.

The TISS post-graduates in Social Entrepreneurship are expected to take up professional positions in international organisations, and national government and non-government organisations: get absorbed in the fast-growing profit and non-profit sectors, and also to emerge as social entrepreneurs themselves.

Distribution of Credit Hours*

The total credit hours for the degree programme will be 84, divided between the first and second years of the programme as detailed below. However, the year-wise distribution of total credit hours may change depending upon the semester class timetables.

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL SCIENCES

2.8 M.A. IN DEVELOPMENT STUDIES

The multi-disciplinary M.A. in Development Studies programme draws inputs from and builds on the Institute's 70 years of experience in social work education, research and field action. The programme engages with a multitude of approaches and contemporary theories in the social sciences that deal with development perspectives, policy, and practice.

The central objective of the courses specific to the M.A. in Development Studies programme is to understand development as an outcome of complex social, economic and political processes at micro- and macro-levels. While some of the courses theoretically explore why and how societies, regions and communities change, others focus on how governments, NGOs, international donors, and other development agents intervene to facilitate change. With the role of the State being redefined in the context of market reforms and global economic integration, this programme examines how development could benefit people who otherwise remain outside the market.

Spread over 2 years (or 4 Semesters), the students will be offered a wide range of compulsory courses and optional courses. Each student is required to submit a research dissertation of 8 credits. Internships in different social and economic contexts are also an integral part of the programme.

Students who graduate with this degree will find their professional career in academic institutions pursuing inter-disciplinary research and teaching in development studies; in civil and allied administrative services; development facilitating national and international organisations; the corporate sector; and research consultancy firms.

2.9 M.A. IN EDUCATION (ELEMENTARY)

The M.A. in Education (Elementary) programme aims to enhance knowledge, capacities and orientations that are relevant to strengthening elementary education in the country. Students completing this programme would develop a critical and reflective understanding of core and foundational areas of education, including theory and research, with special reference to India. The programme is designed to include thematic, issue-based courses that are of current significance in the Indian context. Students will also develop special expertise in chosen areas of study relating more directly to professional needs: for e.g. curriculum, pedagogy, teacher development, material development, education of children with special needs, leadership and management issues, etc.

The M.A. in Education (Elementary) programme has 10 courses (7 basic and 3 optional) and one field attachment spread over 4 semesters. The programme has two distinctive features. First, it is conducted in the dual mode – viz., it involves 3 weeks of contact classes and 15 weeks of distance learning per semester. In general, by studying 3 courses per semester, a student would be able to complete the programme in 2 years. Students may opt for the flexible option of taking fewer courses in a semester and completing the programme over 3 years (or more). This is based on the prerequisites for each course.

The contact classes are held at the Mumbai campus of TISS during the Institute's vacation periods. Teaching-learning in the rest of the semester will be carried out based on planned weekly/fortnightly readings and regular assignments, primarily through web-based medium.

The second special feature of the programme is its collaborative nature. Supported by the Sir Ratan Tata Trust, Mumbai, and ICICI Bank, Mumbai, the programme is a collaborative endeavour involving 6 educational organisations, including TISS, that have contributed significantly to elementary education research and innovative practice. The collaborators are:

- (i) National Institute for Advanced Studies (NIAS)
- (ii) Homi Bhabha Centre for Science Education (HBCSE)
- (iii) Vidya Bhawan Society (VBS)
- (iv) Digantar Shiksha Evam Khelkud Samiti
- (v) Eklavya

This programme aims at professional development in various areas relevant to education, with a focus on elementary education. This includes teacher education, curriculum development, material development and textbook design, education programme coordination as well as research. Employers include educational institutions involved with teacher preparation and research; as well as government and non-government agencies involved with developing and implementing intervention programmes, documentation and research.

CENTRE FOR MEDIA AND CULTURAL STUDIES

2.11 M.A. IN MEDIA AND CULTURAL STUDIES

The M.A. in Media and Cultural Studies aims at honing skills of media production and research within a framework that enables the development of a critical perspective on media, culture and society. In contemporary society, media and culture are crucial sites where identities are produced and popular ways of seeing are consumed. Cultural Studies enables us to meaningfully engage and interact with these new modes of being and doing. By making us conscious of the many complex ways in which power impinges on our lives and constructs our cultures, it has the potential of empowering us to critically read the media and other cultural institutions and texts, to understand how they shape our identities and to think about how we could possibly shape them.

This programme will impart intensive hands-on training in video production, including direction, research, scripting, editing, cameras and sound. It also has a strong research focus. This will enable students to produce documentaries and short films. The programme will culminate in the production of a documentary/multimedia artefact and a research term paper. It will also teach basic skills in community radio, graphics and web design. The students will have access to the well-equipped facilities and the visual archive of the Centre for Media and Cultural Studies. The teachers of the course would include CMCS and TISS faculty as well as professionals.

With its unique blend of theory and practice, the M.A. in Media and Cultural Studies works towards the creation of a lively group of media 'thinking do-ers' and 'doing thinkers' who could then choose to branch out into a diverse range of work or educational situations. The students of this programme will be equipped to work in the areas of media and television production, independent media practice, media education, advocacy and research. Potential employers include television production houses, educational and research institutions, NGOs, and governmental agencies.

JAMSETJI TATA CENTRE FOR DISASTER MANAGEMENT

2.12 M.A./M.SC. IN DISASTER MANAGEMENT

The M.A./MSc. programme in Disaster Management aims at enhancing the knowledge, capacities, skills and perspective on disasters. While enabling an understanding of disasters from the vantage point of science and technology in prediction, mitigation and response, the programme will also foster a critical and reflective appreciation of current debates in disaster management within the framework of social and environmental justice, state and civil society dynamics, development, conflict and displacement and globalisation.

The design of this Master's programme includes thematic and issue-based courses, such as the relationship between environment, livelihood and disasters; hazards, risks and vulnerability; institutions, governance and disaster-preparedness and response; and knowledge systems and disaster management. The programme offers a strong multi-disciplinary knowledge base and will enhance critical skills essential for intervention in disasters and their prevention. This programme provides the opportunity to develop expertise in a range of areas such as logistics and supply chain management, public health, peace, conflict and human security, etc. It has one year of intensive classes, workshops and practicals with field exposure and internships. In the second year, focus is on field work and research dissertation – research is a compulsory component of the programme. The programme, however, will follow a pre-determined calendar.

As an emerging field, the need for qualified personnel within disaster management is high. Students graduating with this degree are likely to be employed as disaster/emergency management specialists in India and abroad. Prospective employers include government and non-government agencies and research institutions. This field offers significant scope of engagement as independent professionals with government and non-government sectors. Equipped with a capacity for critical reflection, students of this programme could also go on to pursue research, training and teaching careers.

Student Support Services

The TISS strives to provide an excellent environment for learning and peaceful and enjoyable co-existence of students drawn from all states, Union Territories and regions of the country. The Institute is truly a multi-cultural community that strives to safeguard the rights and dignity of all members irrespective of gender, caste, religion, regional or linguistic background, or sexual orientation. The TISS has a zero-tolerance policy with respect to those discriminating or violating rights and dignity of individuals on the basis of the above.

6.1 STUDENTS' AFFAIRS OFFICE

The Students' Affairs Office deals with accommodation within and outside the campus and manages student services such as Students' Union; health insurance; yoga, aerobics and gymming, as well as promoting cultural activities; and other support services. The Dean (Students' Affairs), is supported by a Section Officer and secretarial staff.

6.2 STUDENTS' UNION

The Institute has a healthy tradition of electing a Students' Union by secret ballot. Returning Officers are appointed to oversee the process. Office bearers of the Union have been responsible students who have contributed to student life through their leadership. TISS students, guided by the Union have been in the forefront of assisting/working with people in difficult situations due to natural and human created disasters in the country, and in our neighbourhood. Last year, they were involved in a campaign for spreading information on the Right to Information Act and gave their wholehearted participation in organising a highly successful and fondly remembered Alumni Meet.

6.3 ACCOMMODATION/HOSTELS

Admission to the hostels is restricted to full-time, bona fide, Master's degree students. Deputed candidates, holding government accommodation in Mumbai (general category or SC or ST), will not be allotted hostel accommodation. Due to limited hostel seats, accommodation is not available for students who ordinarily reside in the Mumbai Metropolitan Region.

6.4 DINING HALL

The Dining Hall serves both vegetarian and non-vegetarian meals. It is managed by a Committee with student representatives as members and with a member of the Faculty as its Chairperson. It is open for all the Master's degree students, M.Phil. and Ph.D. scholars, Institute staff, and faculty participants of all the short-term courses and seminars held at the Institute.

Students also have a canteen facility within the campus. In keeping with the overall ethos of the Institute, management of the canteen has been given to an NGO devoted to women's empowerment. The canteen is run by a self-help group of woman rag-pickers.

6.5 HEALTH CARE

Two Medical Officers visit the Institute – one every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 4.00 p.m. to 5.00 p.m. and the other every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 4.30 p.m. to 5.30 p.m. The medical officers provide consultations and referrals, as and when required.

6.6 HEALTH INSURANCE

The Institute has a Mediclaim Personal Accident Insurance Policy for students, the details of which are hosted on www.tiss.edu/insurance. The premium for the same is to be paid at the time of admission. It is compulsory for all students to become members of the collective health insurance scheme

6.7 COUNSELLING SERVICES

Regular classes and assignments with concurrent or block fieldwork every semester, with end semester internships and research work, and attendance in workshops, special roundtables and meetings to aid learning, TISS programmes are challenging and highly demanding on efforts and time.

In order to support students to better cope and enjoy learning, professional counselling services are available from Monday to Saturday for 3 hours, every day. The counsellors help the students in their day-to-day concerns and also enhance their overall well-being. A senior faculty member from TISS coordinates the Medical and Counselling services.

The counsellors communicate through emails, web postings, and also maintain a notice board where posters, charts and information pertaining to various issues are exhibited. The students and the counsellors communicate through emails and cell phones for appointments or asking for support.

6.8 SPORTS AND RECREATION

The M.K. Tata Memorial Gymkhana and Recreation Centre includes facilities such as gym, yoga, table tennis, carom, badminton. An aerobics programme has also been introduced to encourage physical fitness activities amongst students.

The Students' Union organises friendly sporting events (both outdoor and indoor), and the Annual Sports day is a much awaited day in the sports calendar for students, staff and faculty alike.

Cultural activities such as celebration of national holidays, the Spic-Macay music festival, food festivals, and the three-day TISS Cultural Fest – Quintessence (fondly referred to as Quinty) – form some of the cultural highlights of life on the campus.
